yes, faith was important but is that horrible? schools still made it their business to teach the three rs versus progressive nonsense taught today clearly, in the real world, there are significant differences from the assumption, which would likely reduce the actual pulmonary drug deposition.